Getting Together Means Fun For Everyone

At the first game of the season,
the cold but enthusiastic fans wait patiently for the second half action to begin.

Lane students listen closely to the introduction of the annual candy sale.

Mr. Porter tells the students about available prizes for selling candy.

Mr. Kramer shows what happened to the last student who didn't study for tests in his health class!

Roger Martin tries to hide behind the pencil sharpener because of his unfinished work.

The last of over 12,000 boxes of candy are unloaded from the truck.

A record-breaking 1,004 boxes of candy were sold by Mrs. Hart's hardworking homeroom students--super salesmen.

Vikings Develop Practical Arts' Skills

As usual, another product of the home economics department turns out perfect.

As do all "good" Artists, these boys clean up their mess at the end of class.

Every other week, English class students are given time in the library.

Final Touches Add To The School Year

Miss Terri Pollick makes herself presentable for Lane's annual Halloween dance. She certainly deserved first place.

Students show their school spirit by helping with the decorating for the holiday dance.

Enthusied Vikings Start 1976-77 Year Off Right

Beth Fisher talks to Mr. Williams about planning an after-school activity.

Representatives from the East Wayne Street Center and the Crippled Childrens' Society look with pleasure at the results of Lane's Christmas project.

Are these sacks full of groceries for the cooks to use for lunch? No, this was donated for the Christmas project.

New Experiences Add To Everyone's Learning

Amy still insists that the grasshopper moved as she hesitantly tries to cut it for the second time while Denise holds it down. Ugh!

"Cut on this line," explained Mr. Lambert as he explained metal working to his class.

"Let's try it again, once more and right," requests Mr. Hopkins.

Lane Students Dress For The Occasion

In spite of the cold weather, a large crowd of Viking fans turn out for a home football game.

And whose fairy godmother is this? Oh, it's Shari dressed up for the annual Halloween dance.

Students Enjoy Doing What They Do Best

"You had better hurry, for we only have three minutes to eat before we have to go to class."

Bob enjoys the bounty that Mrs. Hart's homeroom earned as the winners of the candy sale.

Variety Fills Every School Day

Becky Anderson jumps for joy as Lane scores its first touchdown of the '76 football season.

Mrs. Bertrand explains a short cut to Penny Miller in Algebra class.

"Practice makes perfect!" says Mr. Williams as Lane students participate in the first of many fire drills this year.

Part Of Having Fun Is Being Busy

"Come on, Mrs. Aldrich, look at the camera. Your work can wait until later, can't it?"

Iona McClain uses Lane's library facilities to look for information for her classes.

Books used for reports, research, or just plain enjoyment can be found in Lane's excellent library.

Mrs. Mendenhall uses her experience to check a project during one of her sewing classes.

And just who are these funny kids and what is the occasion?

Many Vikings stop and talk with friends before rushing through the crowded hall to their next class.

It's a real nice day!
I'm glad to know you!

staff

Mr. Thomas Williams job as our principal is sometimes hectic but always rewarding. He aims to achieve the goal of running Lane efficiently and fairly for all. He works with the staff and student body in coordinating class curriculum and the after-school program.

Administrators Make 1976-77 A Good Year For All Vikings

Mr. Jim Davis, Lane's assistant principal, is a coordinator of ideas and programs. He works with teachers and students, making Lane a better school for all. His duties include cafeteria supervision, discipline problems, and helping arrange classes and activities for the Lane students.

Mr. Kaufman and Mrs. McDougale are Lane's guidance counselors. Their busy days are filled with helping students with personal and academic problems. They work with the scheduling of classes and with students who have special problems in class. They also help with cafeteria supervision and after-school activities.

Office Staff Works Hard To Fulfill Students' Needs

Mrs. Spitler, our school nurse, takes care of the sick and the wounded. Here Marilyn Hardan and Doreen Short tell her where it hurts.

This year's office personnel consists of Mrs. Kindy, Mrs. Murphy, and Mrs. Younghaus. Daily attendance records and study hall keep Mrs. Kindy busy each day. Mrs. Murphy is the general secretary and Mrs. Younghaus is our secretary-treasurer. We depend on these three ladies everyday.

Dear Sweetie, have

I hope we had as much fun during the summer as we did that one Saturday night. I hope you get it on with the girls. I thought I'd let you know Linda Richter likes Dave Elli. So don't try anything on her.

I really don't know you very good, But good enough. The first time I met you
was in the cafeteria when our Black had a speaker. Love ya

Always,

P.S. Penny
come over call Hoffmann
this sometime 485-4378
summer

P.S. I forgot. You're also cute. 4921 Eicher Dr.
